How long is the training?

Goodwill's CNA Training Program is 115 hours

- Our most popular full-time schedule meets approximately 30 hours per week and training lasts 4 weeks
- Our part-time schedules vary in the number of hours per week – typically ranging from 8 – 24 hours per week. These classes, depending on the specific schedule last between 5 and 14 weeks.

Do I have to complete the full 115 hours?

To be awarded a certificate of completion and be eligible to take the state exam, each student must complete the 115 hours.

Please refer to the attendance policy on the next slide for additional information.

Please also note that our instructors have limited capacity to make up missed time with students and we cannot guarantee an opportunity will be available to make up missed time. Therefore, the expectation is that each student attends each day of training on-time and for the full amount of time.

What is the attendance policy?

Providing good care for patients and residents in health care facilities requires that all workers be present for their assigned shifts. Strict attention to good attendance begins with this class. New information and valuable learning opportunities will be provided daily, so student attendance is critical. Attendance is a vital part of being successful in our CNA training program and in the health care field once employed. Any time missed during the duration of the CNA training program represents a missed learning opportunity that cannot be recaptured. All lessons presented in class are a mandatory part of the curriculum set forth by the state of Michigan and cannot be missed. Furthermore, we are contracted to provide a set number of hours of lecture in the classroom and hands-on instruction in the lab and at the clinical site.

Below is an outline of the allowances within our attendance policy for the CNA training program:

- 1 absence to accommodate unforeseen and/or emergency situations
 - 3 tardies equals 1 absence. A tardy is arriving any time after the time that your class is scheduled to start (including returning late from breaks)
 - No call/No show-voluntary drop from the program resulting in an "Incomplete"
 - If a clinical day is missed, students will be required to schedule a time outside of the class timeframe to complete skills with another cohort, though completion is not guaranteed.
- Exceeding the limit in either absences (1) or tardies (3) will result in a mandatory meeting to discuss and sign an attendance contract. Furthermore, 1 infraction after the implementation of the attendance contract (either absence or tardy) will result in an "Incomplete" for training with the student being asked to not return.
 - In the event of an "Incomplete", the funder will still be required to pay the tuition fees.
 - If a student is aware of a planned obligation before the start of class, all efforts must be made to reschedule.
 - If an extenuating circumstance arises that requires that a student miss more than one day, the instructor will confer with the student and their sponsor to determine if the student is eligible to complete the class.
 - If a day must be missed due to illness or emergency situation, students are required to excuse themselves before the start of class.
